Requirements and Cost

The cost of the 100-hour CCWFN Certification Program runs between $1250 to $1750 depending on the recommended reading materials and the number of outside credit hours completed. Professional or Technician Membership is included in the above price structure. As an example applicants can reduce the overall cost by receiving credit for up to a maximum of 30 hours of outside instruction from seminars given by the instructors listed on the application and reviewed by IFNH. The certification program is based on the Nutritional Exam and the Foundations of Nutritional Therapies program, which encompass certain basic philosophies and procedures, making the FNT course a requirement. For those who have taken the FNT program over the past 15 years, a review program is available at a reduced fee.

IFNH Certification Application

Application Work Sheet (04/07)

This outline is to help you determine costs of the certification program and professional membership.

The Foundations of Nutritional Therapies (FNT) course is required.

The cost for non-members is $790.00. The cost for members is $575.00. Review members: $295.00

If you have taken the Foundations of Nutritional Therapies (FNT) course in the past, there are two price structures for the review program:

With Regular Membership price is: $395.00. With Professional Membership price is: $295.00.

Phone conferencing classes count towards 2 hours credit. The cost for non-members is $65.00. The cost for Regular Members is $39.00. The cost for Professional Members is $25.00.

Since the foundation will allow up to 30 credit hours from outside speakers, you will need to list classes for outside credits by instructor's name, class name, number of hours and date taken.

Not all classes are accepted by the Foundation. In order to determine if the classes you took are acceptable, you will need to decide if the primary criteria for class acceptance support the basic philosophy of the Foundation by taking a functional approach rather than an allopathic approach.

Classes that are primarily protocols or strictly product oriented will not be accepted. If you have any doubt whether those classes will be accepted, fill out the request forms. If you have any questions don't hesitate calling the Foundation for clarification. See Certification Program Info on our website for list of courses.
